Welcome to the Spring edition of Bookworm!
The poets love spring and so do we!

*Spring has sprung, the grass is riz
I wonder where the birdies iz ?
I heard the birds are on the wing
Dont be absurd,
the wing is on the bird !*

Variously attributed to 19th Century Norwegian playwright & Poet
Henrik Ibsen, Ogden Nash and also the Marx Brothers!!

And in the words of Anonymous -
*Spring is what winta
Always gozinta.*

Inside this edition of the Bookworm you will find

- New book lists,
- What's new on the Kindles
- Children's activities details and
- Special Ventriloquist visit details

Happy Spring Reading!

New on our Kindles! Two very different books!

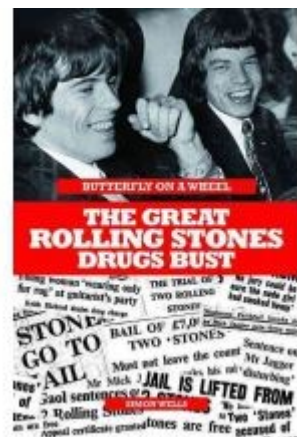

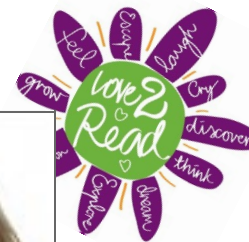

Gogo is Zulu for Grandmother and Mama is Zulu for Mother.

This book by ABC reporter Sally Sara, (pictured) tells the stories of twelve African women.

Sally Sara was African correspondent for the ABC, and travelled across Africa for more than six months to obtain the interviews from these very different women .

Despite enduring beatings, genocide, war and mutilations these women have the strength "to not only keep going but to make sense of it and be of help to others in their communities."

If this doesn't interest you , why not try a serve of nostalgia ?

Butterfly on a Wheel: The Great Rolling Stones Drugs Bust. English author Simon Wells has previously written a book about the lives of the Beatles , and writes for magazines and newspapers. The book Depository webpage claims this book has "... everything; sex, drugs, rock and roll and a huge slice of British social history. At its core are four pep pills, a Sunday tabloid, two celebrated rock stars and a court case that changed popular culture forever." Read more about it at
