Barmera Library & Council Customer Service Centre Newsletter

one year on!

It's nearly a year since Berri Barmera Library service joined the One Card network and we are so glad that we did! It didn't take long to realize the many benefits of this new system for library users and library staff.

Our library users are now part of a huge network linking 134 different libraries, with Yankalilla the last library to join the network in September.

So the odds are, wherever you go in South Australia, you can visit the local library and feel right at home! Just flash your Berri Barmera Library card and enjoy the varied collections and different library atmospheres!

Our library customers report they love having access to millions of books, DVDs and CDs from libraries across SA. Comments have also been received about how easy it is to look up the library catalogue from home or in the library and place a 'hold' for delivery to the 'home' library.

Library staff love the way the new system has extended our borrowers' ability to choose from a much wider catalogue than the old system of a year ago. Over 4 million items! Your library card is a valuable passport to libraries across SA - Enjoy!

In addition to the One Card anniversary, there are some other special occasions coming up soon.

Baby Rhyme Time is celebrating 7 years at Barmera Library on 18th October.

A HUGE thank you to volunteer Melanie Alder for all the work she has done over the past 7 years to make these sessions such a success.

And a very Happy Birthday to Barmera Library on 31st October! 53 years young!

Join us as we celebrate these special occasions. Free cake! We love to party!

KIDS REVIEWS

LOST & FOUND

By Brooke Davis

Australian author Brooke Davis' first novel 'Lost and found' encompasses themes of mental illness, love, death and grief, and features acts of violence with an artificial leg, an unconventional love story, and a seven year old girl with a diary of dead things!

The story revolves around three very different main characters. Millie, aged 7, left in a shopping centre by her mentally ill mother, is lost.

Reclusive octogenarian Agatha, yelling insults to passersby from the security of her home, is mentally lost. Karl, an 87 year old widower on the run from a nursing home is lost in his grief for his wife and the life he once had.

How the trio are 'found' is revealed in this very entertaining book, The blurb on the front cover promises that you will "laugh, cry and feel a little wiser" after reading this book. Not everyone will agree - read it for yourself and be the judge! Peg

If this book doesn't appeal to you, don't worry.

We all have different tastes. There's something for everyone in our library - Australian Outback stories, travel books, forensic thrillers, biographies, romance, horror, fantasy and more - we've got the lot! Or if we don't have it then it's easy to get from any of our other One Card libraries.

Look out for the Reader Recommended stickers on our books - see examples on right.

We don't put them on lightly - books must really have made a big impact on one of our readers to rate one of these stickers!

Happy reading!

We invited a couple of our younger readers to write book reviews and we think you'll agree they've done a great job.

Thanks Kayshia and Luke!

ABIGAIL

by Catherine Rayner

This book is about a giraffe that likes to count. She tries to count zebras, flowers, leaves, and spots on a lady bug, but something goes wrong every time she counts. Finally her friends show her what to count and it got too dark so they couldn't count anymore things. So they counted the stars.

I liked reviewing this book and think kids between the ages of 3 to 9 would enjoy this book.

Kayshia aged 11.

THE BIG BAD WOLF

a story and a play

By Jill McDougall and Debora Baldassi

I really enjoyed this book. It takes the classic tale of the big bad wolf and turns it into a bit more of a happy cheery sort of story where the pigs are happy and the wolf is happy. I really liked the illustrations as they looked like they just came out of a high school student's sketch book.

This book is a good quick and entertaining story and play for kids, teens and adults.

Luke aged 13
